Rare Opportunities

(By J. B. Paden of White-Paden Realty Co.)

(By J. B. Paden of White-Paden Realty Co.)

The past year closed opportunities that will never come to us again. When the European was began our regular "know it alls' saw our country crumbling, and as for business, there was not going to be any, so they hid their money, crawled into their holes and hope died within them. In spite of these rank pessimists, business continues to move along in about the same old way. If you have a real sure enough burgain plenty of buyers will be found and if you have good collateral money can be secured here on very liberal terms. Did you ever stop to think how independent El Paso is of crop failures, grasshoppers and the hundred other ills that bring about luminess depression? Even a little chile con carne war makes no material difference about El Paso's growth. We are gobring about business depression? Even a little chile con extrae warmakes no material difference about El Paso's growth. We are going right abend, 38,000 three years ago, now 65,000. In two years more we will have a population of 100,000 and then we will just begin to grow. El Paso will be the largest city between San Francisco and Dallas. Our mines haven't been even seratched, our land is still undeveloped. We should have a missionary at work among manufacturers exploiting our virtues. Where on earth is the help question so easily solved? As for the cattle industry, this is so tremendous that no one concern will ever unster the output. And tremendous that no one concern will ever master the output. And as for politics, I honestly helieve that our brand if carefully conpidered is less dangerous than any I have ever encountered, and that is saying a lot, for my home used to be in Atlantic City, New Jersey, where we had a law to suit every occasion. With these good things on our side and El Paso's record behind us, where can one find hetter investment opportunity? Our city limits, in 5 years, is going to be our close in property. If you don't believe this statement, stop and think of the territory now covered by our population. What are we going to do with the next sixty thousand? If you baven't got your little slice of El Paso, better get busy, for as sure as you live you will regret it, and in the very near future, too. El Paso today is in her sanddling clothes and you had better buy before she starts to change too fast.

Cruelty To War Horses STOCKS ADVANCE,

New York, Jan. 6.—Mrs. James Speyer, president of the New York Women's League for Animals, has appointed Mrs. C. R. Flint, Mrs. Dunlap Hopkins, Mrs. Kate S. Warner and Mrs. F. W. Furnam a countitie to investigate the condition of horses bought in this country by the French government for its army, and report the result of their work. "I understand," said Mrs. Flint, "the horses are sent from this port in cargoes of 15,000 at a time and that the average loss is 8 percent in France, compared with a loss of a little more than 1 percent in England. The contractors insure the shipments and the governments do not claim the abstracts until four days after their arrival, making the insurance comthe shipments until four days after their arrival, making the insurance com-panies pay the loss. When these insurance companies find their lesses excessive these inhumanities will cease. By inhumanities I mean the failure of the shippers to properly water and feed the animals while on board the ships.

Editor El Pano Heraje:

I have lived to El Pano for the last seven reara, though have made El Pano my hendquariers for 19 years. I never was a ward politician, however I did attend the "anti-ring" meeting, when the nominations were made, and I will say they got out a sirong tichel, with Tom Lea for mayor. When he rose from his seat to thank the ronvention I said to myself, "That man puis me in mind of Abraham Lincoln, who freed the black man; Tom Lea will free the white people of El Paso, and do away with ring rule, or a one man's town, on election day." Would "Take Roof Off Rock Island and Give Public Peek Inside"

Chicago. Ill., Jan. 6.—A promise to take the roof off the Rock inimid railroad system and give all a peck at what is the matter with it," was made here today at the western railway was arbitration proceedings. The promise was made by Warren S. Stone, representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, in the course of the isstimony of W. J. Lauck, a statistician. Lauck continued their octivation began that the productive efficiency of railroad engineers and Bromen had increased, while their carriings show an actual decrease. James M. Sheean, attorney for the railroad, pointed out that apparently the table analyzing the Rock Island road showed that the productive efficiency of the angineers had decreased. Lauck said that it might be due to the Rock Island's bookkeeping, to improper financing, to poor romibels or to a variety of causes.
